VOL. XXII.—NO. 6559 PORTLAND OREGON: FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1882. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

A new Outbreak Reported among the Wyoming Shoshones.

SIX THOUSAND IMMIGRANTS ARRIVED AT NEW YORK YESTERDAY.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Post to-day, in reviewing an editorial in the Hartford Courant, which calls upon President Arthur to veto the new Chinese bill, asserts that a veto would unquestionably be sustained by the Senate, as it passed that body by less than a two-thirds vote, counting pairs, and proceeds as follows: "It becomes then a question of some interest to know whether the president's objections to legislation of this character are founded on principle or policy in the matter, including a desire to adhere to the late amendments to the Chinese treaty as he understands them. Not much information can be derived from a careful perusal of his veto message. It goes over the ground in such a way that he may refuse to sign or veto a new bill and still hold with confidence to have been entirely consistent. If the president adheres to the doctrines maintained with so much feeling by Massachusetts and Connecticut he will refuse to sign either this bill or any other restricting Chinese immigration which the most experienced legislator may frame, but if he feels that between himself and a vast majority of congress there is only a difference in details apart from the limit of exclusion now reduced to ten years he may give his approval to the new bill." The Courant, leaving off the view of all questions of abstract right, declares the latter legislation to be as objectionable as the old, and the present bill the same in details as the other. The definition of laborers, the certificates required of visitors, and the forbidding of naturalization are printed as reasons sufficient to justify a veto, even from a president who might have believed in restriction in some milder form. It is difficult to surmise what will be done. The difference between the two bills is not so pronounced in favor of the last as to compel approval by a president who does not believe overmuch in restricting coolie immigration, though he is not opposed to it from principle, and yet the changes cover ground enough to afford a reason for approval, if the president desires to concentrate the minority of his party who honestly favor the restriction of immigration of servile laborers.

Pleasant Words for Congressman George.

The Post to-day has the following editorial paragraph: "The sitting member from Oregon in the house never has a fair showing. While he is attending to his duties in congress his opponent is making the fur fly all over the state. This is the reason why no congressman ever gets re-elected from Oregon, and the state changes its politics every two years." Apropos of this remark of the Post the following extract from a letter mailed to Oregon by Representative George will be found especially interesting: "Referring to your suggestion as to the necessity of my pairing with some democrat, and returning to canvass Oregon in the event of my nomination, I must state that such is utterly out of the question. To pair would merely neutralize politically on a few questions, but for me to leave congress would be to neglect my duty as a congressman and as a member of committees now overloaded with general business, and also all material interests which I represent for the people of Oregon. Our river and harbor appropriations, our commercial interests, and our various bills for the benefit of our state and the people generally now before the committees in congress and requiring constant attention, to say nothing of department business for our citizens in the land, census, pension or postoffice business—in short, it would be to neglect my duty in my first term in order to secure a re-election. I would prefer defeat rather than neglect the work already placed in my hands by the people of our state, therefore to my generous and partial fellow citizens to whom I owe all I am, I must trust the future."

A New Outbreak Reported.

CHICAGO, May 4.—A Rawlins, Wyoming, special says: It is stated that the Shoshone and Bannock Indians at Wind river agency, 120 miles north of here, broke out upon the departure of the two companies of the 3d cavalry from Fort Washakie, which is an agency post only. A few men were left to garrison the post, while the two companies were sent to fight the Apaches. There are about 2000 Indians on this reservation, and all are splendid fighters and were excellent scouts under Gen. Crook in his campaigns of 1876 and 1877, against the Sioux and Cheyennes. There are several theories, of course, for their outbreak. One is, that the killing of Ute Jack incensed them. Army officers, however, believe they were ready to fight and simply took advantage of the absence of troops to take the war path and leave the reservation. No confirmation or contradiction of the report is obtained yet, but those best informed are uneasy and apprehend the report is true.

Worse than the Apaches.

CHICAGO, May 4.—A Washington special reports that the trouble in Wyoming territory by Snake and Bannock Indians is considered here much more serious than the Apache troubles. The Snakes and Bannocks are about 2000 strong, are very shrewd, hard fighters and if reports of their determined outbreak are not exaggerated, it may take a considerable force to put them down.

The Outbreak Improbable.

OMAHA, May 4.—The rumor of the outbreak of Bannocks and Shoshones is discredited at army headquarters here. No official information is received, while if the report was true it would have been sent from Fort Washakie unless the wires were cut; besides, army officers believe that Chief Washakie, of the Shoshones, is friendly to the whites and has his tribe in check.

Fort Washakie without a Garrison.

OMAHA, May 4.—Gen. McCook has received no further information concerning the reported outbreak of Snakes and Bannocks at Fort Washakie, Wyoming, and knowing the friendly character of the Indians he does not believe that there is really anything serious. Fort Washakie will be entirely ungarrisoned until the arrival of a company of the Sixth infantry from Fort Douglass, Utah. They can't reach Fort Washakie until early next week, however. Considerable alarm prevails over last night's report, and settlers are preparing for any emergency.

Clearing House Statistics.

NEW YORK, May 4.—According to the clearing house returns the following towns show a decrease in business transactions this week over the corresponding week last year: New York, 4.8 per cent; Boston, 11.1; St. Louis, 3.7; San Francisco, 3.8; Baltimore, 1.8; Louisville, .1; Indianapolis, 15.2. The following show the gain: Philadelphia, 6.9; Chicago, 28.7; Cincinnati, 27.; Pittsburg, 35.9; New Orleans, 38.5; Milwaukee, 31.8; Providence, 4.5; Kansas City, 61.1; Cleveland, 2.3; Hartford, 11.; New Haven, 21.8; Columbus, 16.6; Peoria, 48.8; Worcester, 23.4; Syracuse, 23.1.

The Public comments on these figures: The exchanges for the week ending Apr l 30, are not indicative of an increasing volume of business. It is true that the comparison is with a month of marked activity in 1881, and that a small increase appears in the aggregate, and in the exchanges outside of New York, but clearings must be interpreted by the record of prices which show that for every $100 paid in April, 1881, about $11,250 would have been paid in April, 1882, had the volume of business as to quantities remained the same. Moreover the irregularity of returns which has been noticed for several weeks appears to be increasing. In the last week of the month five of the largest cities and two others report smaller transactions than in 1881, and notwithstanding an advance in prices at New York, a decline is unusual and cannot be attributed to any difference in stock speculation. At some points where a large increase appears, notably at Chicago and Milwaukee, the gain is due to extraordinary speculation in products in spite of a considerable decrease in the quantities of such products handled. All these facts point to a real decrease in the volume of business, mainly attributable to the partial failure of crops last fall and to the same consequent decline in purchasing power, or the disposition of farmers. On the other hand the exchanges at Pittsburg, Cleveland and nearly all minor manufacturing towns continue very large, the gain being greater than the advance in the average of prices. The natural inference is that stocks of manufactured products may be accumulating in confident expectation that good crops this year will be followed by great expansion in trade, but that consumption for the present is decidedly more restricted than it was one year ago; in other words excellent crops and good foreign demand for our surplus products are becoming every day more necessary to restore domestic trade to a condition of decided prosperity.

Reports from the Cattle Ranches.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The Drover's Journal annual report from the ranching regions of America just published, shows the outlook for western cattle growers to be exceedingly flattering. The general average loss of cattle during the winter was 4 per cent, against 9 per cent during the winter of 1880-81. In its chief cattle-growing section the loss does not exceed 3 per cent. The general condition of cattle on the ranches is reported as 60 per cent. better than at the corresponding time in later years. Grasses are rather more forward, especially in the southwest. The shipping season in more southern states and territories will open no earlier, but the general shipping season will commence sooner and the southwest shipments this year will exceed last year's fully 15 per cent. Texas will stand at least 20 per cent. more. Grand progress has been made in introduction of improved blood and breeders of fine stock are enjoying a big boom by reason of the extraordinary demand for bulls. There are more buyers than sellers on the range, and prices average 4½ per cent. higher than last year. There is no disease, and very few scattering cases of so-called black-leg. The calf crop is the largest known for years.

How Chicago Milk is Produced.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The Evening Journal says the poverty of milk retailed among housekeepers has given rise to an investigation that develops the fact that most of the dairy farmers in this region are feeding their cows sugar corn meal, an article consisting of the residue left after extracting the glucose from corn. It produces a large quantity of very poor milk. There is no positive crime in using this food, and as it is only about one quarter the price of good feed, consumers have no prospect of stopping the practice.

The Tacoma Land Company.

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—A meeting of stockholders of the Tacoma Land Co. which is the possessor of large tracts on the Pacific coast, was held to-day at No. 142 South Third street, and authorized the purchase of the interest held by the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Co. in Tacoma property. The directors were also instructed to make a distribution of 5 per cent. of the capital among the stockholders. Among those present at the meeting were Anthony J. Thomas of New York and Edward Griddle.

To be Interviewed.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Two treasury detectives have gone to Cincinnati to interview A. Millard, jeweler, to whom $2500 worth of diamonds was consigned by mail from Europe in three old books.

Directors Re-elected.

DETROIT, May 4.—At the annual meeting of the Michigan Central railroad held here this forenoon, last year's board of directors were all re-elected.

A Fictitious Railroad Sale.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Omaha special: A correspondent asked the general passenger agent of the Union Pacific, J. W. Morse, if he believed the special dispatches published in the Chicago Tribune the past week or so, stating originating in Atchison, Kansas. After persisting one, announcing the sale of the Kansas Pacific to the Chicago and Alton, and another that it was sold to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and another saying the Denver and Rio Grande was to be the purchaser, Mr. Morse replied, the Kansas Pacific railway is now so thoroughly incorporated with our system that the line is no more likely to be detached and sold than the main line from Ogden to Omaha. The idea of selling so important and profitable a line has never entered the brain of any Union Pacific stockholder or official; to dispose of it is to relinquish our hold on Kansas business and to shut ourselves out of Kansas City and the southwest. We are putting that line in the best possible condition. We found it in poor condition and have steadily improved it from that day to this. It is the principal competitor of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway for Colorado business, and of two southern lines for California and Pacific coast business. We run three through passenger trains on that line to Denver and through sleeping cars on one express train, and on emigrant trains from Kansas City to Ogden. The Omaha lines do not feel the effect of competition from the southern line for the reason that most of their business naturally finds its way to Omaha, and thence over the lines leading west from this city. This is the principal rival railway between the Kansas City lines, and we cannot spare one road from that city without feeling the loss.

Then there have been no overtures from any line looking to purchase of the Kansas Pacific?

Of course not. Managers of these lines know full well we have no intention of vacating the field held by the Kansas Pacific.

Will the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy put on a Chicago and Denver train via Atchison and the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe?

No sir. I am not authorized to speak for either of these lines, but you can see it is nonsense to talk of such a scheme, when you stop to think of the situation. The Burlington will soon have an independent line from Chicago to Denver, and connecting lines from it to Kansas City and Atchison. Both these lines are good ones, and both are shorter than the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. There could be nothing gained by helping competitors to get business which it can claim for itself. Secretary Teller was not attorney of the Union Pacific, and the Pacific roads never influenced his appointment with a view of defrauding the government out of its interest. Gould has only a few shares of Union Pacific now. His interests lie in the southwest, where he has just completed the Texas Pacific, which comes into direct competition with our line from Omaha and Kansas City to San Francisco. No well informed railroad man could devise such schemes as this Atchison correspondent.

An Interesting Scene.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Times' New York special: Castle Garden is now unquestionably the most interesting spot on Manhattan island. Since daybreak no fewer than six steamers have come in with a living freight of 6000 in all. In the crowd were a party of stalwart English brewers, fifty in number, who say they have come over to see if they cannot introduce Anglo-American ale to take the place of the popular German-American lager, and being with them considerable capital, and the intention is to start an experimental brewery, probably in Philadelphia. They come from Preston, near Manchester, where they own brew houses. Said one, "We have tasted your lager, and while admitting it is good, it is not equally so refreshing nor wholesome as beer brewed from hops. If American people can be persuaded to fairly test English made beer, they would acquire such a liking for it that they would drink nothing else. Both refreshing and stimulating, the people who partake of it rarely drink spirituous liquors. It can be sold at two dollars a barrel, and three cents a glass, and will be found quite as good as the imported article. The steamer Steinman brings a numerous party of Dutch cattle raisers, destined for Stevens county, Texas, each of whom has an average capital of $600 with which to go into business. They bring families with them. The Italia, from Gibraltar, brings about a thousand Italians, not a few of them railroad laborers. There is also reason for the belief that some of them come here to the padrones who pay their passage over with the understanding they will be rag-pickers and beggars, sharing their profits, but the authorities are determined to enquire into all such cases and send all such emigrants back.

A Triple Tragedy.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 3.—This evening a young man named Albert Emdy was run over and instantly killed by a switch engine in the M. & St. L. freight yard. A large number of persons gathered at the scene, and while two men, John Cochran and John Griffin, of Muscatine, were crossing the track of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba on the way home they were struck by a train and one beheaded and the other instantly crushed.

Quarreling over Memorial Flowers.

CHICAGO, May 3.—A Mrs. Lucas, of this city, obtained possession of the Garfield memorial flowers to put them through a preservation process in work. She received pecuniary assistance from parties who arranged with her to show them around the country. Mrs. Garfield objected to this. The flowers were taken into the police court on a writ of replevin by parties who advanced the money a few days ago and turned over to Gen. Eldridge as custodian. To-day the matter was compromised and the flowers will be sent to the Garfield Monument Association.

Pennsylvania Republican Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—The executive committee of the citizens' republican association issued a call for a state convention May 24th, stating that any improper nomination of the convention of May 10th should be repudiated.

Strikes in New York.

NEWBURGH, May 4.—The Newburgh cotton mill is shut down owing to a strike. Four hundred hands are out of employment.

Five hundred railroad laborers are on a strike at Cornwall.

Congratulations for Parnell.

BUFFALO, May 4.—James Mooney, president of the Irish National Land League of America, telegraphed Parnell as follows: "In the name of the Irish National Land League of America I congratulate you and the Irish people on the destruction of coercion.

A Heavy Sentence.

NEW YORK, May 3.—John Flanagan was arraigned in general session court to-day, charged with robbing a Chinaman. Evidence of the robbery being sufficient to convict he was allowed to plead guilty of an assault. In passing sentence Recorder Smyth said he always found Chinamen quiet, industrious and peaceful, and it was necessary to make an example of those who in neighboring cities made it a point to harass them, and he sent the prisoner to the penitentiary for one year and fined him $100, the full penalty allowed by law.

Railroad Extension.

LAREDO, Tex., May 4.—The first 35 miles of grading out from New Laredo, Mex., on the International road was completed to-day. It is understood that further grading will be suspended until the Mexican government will accept survey and location. It is believed that the government is purposely delaying work to retard the completion of the railroad faster than the government is prepared or willing to pay the bonus of $11,000 it agreed to pay. The delay will cause great loss upon American contractors, who have large and costly outfits in Mexico.

A Sudden Death.

NEW YORK, May 4.—A man named Cappelman, a resident of California, died suddenly a week ago at Missouri valley, Mo., while on his way to this city to visit friends or relatives. He had on his person $450 cash and $10,000 in securities. They were taken charge of by D. Burgess, a railroad official of Missouri valley, who had the deceased embalmed and started with the body for this city, where he is looking for the heirs.

A New Mining Camp.

LARAMIE, May 4.—A wonderful discovery of native copper and silver ore, seventeen miles southeast of this place, has just been made, directly across the old overland stage road. The ore runs 60 to 100 per cent. copper, with gold and silver in paying quantities. Parties are stampeding to the new discovery from all directions.

A Railroad's Earnings.

The annual report of the Michigan Central railroad shows earnings from freight, $5,557,731; from passengers, $2,312,705; miscellaneous, $312,049; total, $8,830,485—a decrease of $15,888 from the preceding year. Expenses, including taxes, $6,762,095, an increase of $998,344. Net earnings, $2,068,390; balance after payment of dividends, $346,819.

The Convicts Recaptured.

FORT MADISON, May 4.—Polk, Wells and Cook, escaped penitentiary birds and murderers, were arrested by a farmer and son this morning at the revolver mouth.

The Steamer Salvation Beached.

NEW YORK, May 4.—A dispatch received here says the Pacific Mail steamer Salvation is beached at Punta Arenas, Central America. Passengers and crew saved and cargo partially. But little hope of getting the vessel off.

Suit Dismissed.

PROVIDENCE, April 4.—The equity suit of the Quedueck Co. vs Zachariah Chaffee, trustee of the Sprague estate, et al., was discontinued and bill dismissed out of the supreme court to-day.

Received his Commission.

BOSTON, May 4.—J. C. Palmer, of Jericho, to-day received his commission as U. S. assistant district attorney for Dakota. He will assume his duties on June 1st.

Detained by Ice.

HALIFAX, April 4.—The overdue steamer Quebec, from Liverpool to Quebec and Montreal, has put in here, unable to reach her destination owing to heavy ice.

Not Yet Confirmed.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Gen. Sheridan has no official information of the outbreak reported to have occurred at Wind River agency among the Bannocks and Shoshones.

Base Ball Notes.

BUFFALO, April 3.—Buffalos 5, Chicago nothing.
PROVIDENCE, April 3.—Providence 3, Troy 1

CANADA.

Canadian Parliament.

OTTAWA, April 3.—In the senate to-night, in the debate on the so-called Irish resolution, Sir Alexander Campbell, leader of the government in the senate, hoped the house would assent to the address precisely as sent from the commons. He was struck particularly with the moderation of tone expressed by the address. It was moderate and full of expressions of love and loyalty. Referring to the right of interference of parliament, Sir Alexander expressed the opinion strongly that it was highly proper for that body to adopt such an address.

More Victims.

AMHERST, Ont., April 3.—Andrew Murray and wife, injured at the burning of their house Sunday, died to-night making four victims. The youngest child is also dying.

Sale Authorized.

QUEBEC, May 4.—The provincial legislature adopted Chapleau's resolution authorizing the sale of the eastern section of the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa & Occidental railway to the Pacific syndicate.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Senator Blair appears before the Chili-Peruvian Committee.

NO NEW FACTS ELICITED BY HIS EXAMINATION.

Senators Hill and Brown of Georgia Reported to be anxious to send in their Resignations.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Examination of Senator Blair was resumed this morning, Chairman Williams conducting the examination. Witness said he early became interested in the subject of an inter-oceanic canal, and, in that connection, with operations of DeLesseps, and thought this proper policy towards Peru on the part of his country, her integrity of territory might be preserved, and an alliance with her might be of great value to this country.

He believed in the strongest assertion of the Monroe doctrine. His first interview with Shipherd took place at his (Shipherd's) office in New York. Ex-Senator Cragin introduced them. The interview was brief and conversation was in substance that he (Shipherd) wanted to engage witness' services in bringing the subject of the Peruvian company to the attention of the state department. Witness intimated he would see him (Shipherd) later in regard to it. The second interview took place at Shipherd's office about the 20th of July. Witness was under the impression Cragin was with him, but went away again. Most of the conversation took place between them. Shipherd explained at great length points of the Cochet claim, and discussed the situation in Chili-Peruvian affairs, saying that probably Chili would accept a money indemnity, and a desire on the part of those he (Shipherd) represented to assist Peru in raising the amount required, using Cochet as a basis of negotiation with Peru in a settlement of this kind to secure for the United States incidental advantages which otherwise might go to foreign parts. I understood it was desirable to enable Peru to secure retirement of the Chilian force from her territory, and enable her to satisfy Chili's demand for indemnity. It was my purpose to aid in accomplishing this result.

Mr Williams—Will you please be careful to state to the committee your understanding of just what Shipherd wanted you to do.

He wanted me privately to examine his papers and give my opinion upon them, but more particularly he desired me to ascertain the attitude of this government towards Chili and Peru and wanted me to see the secretary of state and learn what the policy of this government would be, if I thought it proper and right to do so. Witness understood our government to assume the position of warning away other powers.

Witness was asked if he understood the Peruvian company expected to be able to furnish the amount of indemnity which Chili would claim, and replied: There was no Peruvian company at that time. I supposed there was a sort of syndicate of gentlemen embracing those he had mentioned to me as being interested in the claim. I do not recall the names of all. They are published in the prospectus, I think.

Chairman Williams then inquired in relation to the interviews of July 25th and 26th, at Blaine's house.

Witness saw Blaine and told him something in relation to this matter, but said he did not care, in so important a case, to transmit to Shipherd news of the department, but desired to see Shipherd and talk with him. Blaine readily assented; and an interview occurred on the evening of the 25th. Blaine's house seemed full of company, and the interview was brief,—perhaps half an hour. The conversation was general, and nothing was said by anyone that was not heard by all. Witness could give in general terms the subject matter of the conversation, which turned upon the probable policy of this government and what attitude our government would take and whether it policy would be permanent and well understood. Blaine seemed to know something of the Landreau claim, but in regard to the Cochet claim, after it was explained to him, he raised some questions. At the interview next morning, lasting about an hour, Walker Blaine was there a short time and took part in the argument. The substance of the interview was a pretty thorough discussion of the Cochet claim. Blaine made the point that it originated as a claim on Peru by a French citizen and that Shipherd could have no rights against Peru that a Peruvian would not have, and that the claim seemed merely assigned to an American citizen. Shipherd asserted that action was based upon actual property. Blaine then seemed to assent to the proposition, if it was as Shipherd represented, and that an American claimant would be entitled to the kindly offices of his government. Blaine communicated to us the substance of the instructions he had given Hurlbut and Kilpatrick and those instructions, which I am very sure were communicated to us at that time, Shipherd said were all he desired. Blaine seemed quite clear on the previous history of the Landreau claim. It was one for which this government could properly exercise its good offices unofficially in securing a hearing and adjudication by the government of Peru. The secretary did not consider the Cochet claim as entitled to the same consideration because he said it was an assignment from a foreign to an American citizen. Witness understood Shipherd told Blaine that for the purpose of negotiating with Peru he (Shipherd) was authorized to represent the Landreau claim, and that in fact the Cochet claim was a prior lien and should take precedence.

Belmont—How do you reconcile Christiancy to Blaine in which he states he is attorney for the Landreau claim and the only person authorized to act for it.

Williams—If the gentleman will pardon me, I have but a question to ask, then I am through.

Blaine—Certainly. If the chairman please I would like to answer the question. I do not know Christiancy and have no knowledge whatever of what connection he has to the Landreau claim. I am only giving my understanding of what was said at the interview touching the Landreau claim.

Williams then asked witness if witness at this interview heard any allusion made by Shipherd to his offer of $250,000 in stock to Hurlbut.

"None whatever. I certainly would have heard it if anything of the kind was said."

Committee then adjourned.

Presidential Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—By the president of the United States of America, a proclamation:

Whereas, It is provided in the laws of the United States that wherever, by reason of unlawful obstructions, combinations or assemblages by persons, or rebellion against authority of the United States, it shall become impracticable in the judgment of the president to enforce by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings the laws of the United States within any state or territory, it shall be lawful for the president to call forth the militia of any state and employ such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary to enforce the faithful execution of the laws of the United States, to suppress such rebellion in whatever state or territory thereof the laws of the United States may be forcibly opposed, or execution thereof forcibly obstructed, and,

Whereas, It has been made to appear satisfactory to me by information received from the governor of the territory of Arizona and from the general of the army of the United States, and other reliable sources, that in consequence of unlawful combinations of evil disposed persons who are banded together to oppose and obstruct execution of laws, it has become impracticable to enforce them by ordinary course of judicial proceedings, and that laws of the United States have been therein forcibly opposed, and execution thereof forcibly resisted, and,

Whereas, Laws of the United States require, wherever it may be necessary in judgment of the president to use military forces for the purpose of enforcing faithful execution of the laws of the United States, he shall forthwith, by proclamation, command such insurgents to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes within a limited time;

Now, therefore, I, Chester A. Arthur, president of the United States, do hereby admonish all good citizens of the United States and especially in the territory of Arizona, against aiding, countenancing, abetting or taking part in any such unlawful proceedings, and I do hereby warn all persons engaged in or connected with said obstruction of laws to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes, on or before noon of the 15th day of May.

In witness whereof, I have here unto set my hand and caused the great seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this 3d day of May in the year of our Lord, 1882, and of the independence of the United States one hundred and six.

[L. S.] CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

By the president,
FRED'K FRELINGHUYSEN, Sec'y of State.

Resignation of Senators from Georgia.

It is reported that Senator Hill of Georgia sent his resignation to the governor, and that Senator Brown contemplates resigning. Bad health is the cause. It is said that ex-Senator Gordon will be appointed to one vacancy.

Washington Notes.

General Hazen, chief signal officer, has addressed a letter to the secretary of war asking efficient means for the arrest of Howgate and all power of government to bring him to trial.

The president has respited Edward M. Kelly, sentenced to death at Santa Fe, till June 23d. His sentence will be commuted to three years imprisonment.

A New Appointment.

Secretary Teller has appointed Hon. Noah P. Laveridge, of Coldwater, Mich., assistant solicitor general of the interior department.

THE TURF.

The Chicago Races.

CHICAGO, May 3.—Two hundred entries are made to date, to purses in the summer trotting meeting of the Chicago driving park, and notifications of more to come are received. All purses and stakes are well filled, including all the best horses in the country. Among them are Santa Claus, Robt. McGregor, Francis Alexander, J. B. Thomas, Munroe Chief, Voltaire, Von Arnim, So So, Charley Ford, Kate Sprague, Edwin Thorne, Driver, Clingstone, Fannie Witherspoon, Daisy Dale, Silverton, Lucille, Wm. H. Scott, Thomas, Trinkle, Pilot B., Sorrel Dan, Mattie Hunter, Lucy, Bay Billy, Lady Rolfe, Buzz Medium, Hardwood, Argonaut and Eva. Special purses will be offered for Little Brown Jug, St. Julien, Trinket, Phil Thompson, Sweetheart and Fred Crocker. Last year there were 153 entries, the greatest number ever received for trotting meeting to that date.

Boston Races.

BOSTON, May 4.—The Batch $10,000 stallion race failed to fill. The $2500 double team race was postponed indefinitely. The race for Smuggler colts is filled, and will be trotted June 14.

English Racing.

LONDON, May 4.—The great Cheshire handicap stakes were won by Pilgrim; Fiddler second; Incendiary third.

A prominent politician and active journalist, Mr. George I. Graham, connected with the Philadelphia Sunday Mirror, by using the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil was cured of a troublesome case of rheumatism, contracted during the war. He closes a long statement with—"to those who are afflicted with that complaint, it is worth its weight in gold."

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Provincial Council Ended.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—The provincial council of the archdiocese of the Catholic church of California concluded its labors to-day. The council is held only once in three years, unless by special call, and it has been in session all this week. Proceedings will have to be sent to Rome and receive the pope's approval before they can be made public.

Central Pacific Officials.

The reorganization of the personnel of the Central Pacific railroad management was completed to-day. The active management of the business of the road will hereafter be under charge of the following gentlemen: A. N. Towne, general manager of Central Pacific railway system; J. A. Fillmore, general superintendent, vice A. N. Towne, promoted; R. H. Pratt, assistant general superintendent, vice Fillmore, promoted; J. C. Stubbs, general traffic manager, Richard Gray, general freight agent, vice Stubbs, promoted. Following the example of large eastern corporations the Central Pacific propose to invest their chief executive officer with the title of general manager. It is also understood that hereafter Gov. Leland Stanford will no longer trouble himself with details of the company's affairs. Those duties are hereafter to devolve on the general manager.

Texans on a Tour.

The party of Texas excursionists who were expected to arrive here last evening by the Southern route disappointed those who were expecting them by making a detour at Madera for the Yosemite. Their stay in the valley will be brief and they are expected to arrive here by to-morrow evening's train. The party consists of about 125.

A Cheerful Prospect.

Capt. Tod, of the British steamer Glamis Castle, which arrived here yesterday from China, states that there are between 80,000 and 90,000 Chinese at Hongkong awaiting an opportunity to come to this country, and vessels are being chartered at enormous rates. The fact that Chinese do not arrive by the thousand every day is because there are not sufficient vessels to be had to bring them over.

Missionary Services.

The annual missionary meeting connected with the Episcopal convention, was held last evening at Trinity church. Sunday schools connected with various Episcopal churches in the city were in attendance. Services consisted of musical exercises interspersed with addresses by several ministers.

Bound for Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—The United States coast survey steamer Hassler, Capt. Nichols, sailed from here this morning for the southern coast of Alaska, to be absent until Jan. 1, 1883.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Seattle Notes.

SEATTLE, May 4.—The city assessor has just completed his work for 1882. The total valuation of all property within limits is $3,958,770. The value last year was $1,600,000, and the increase alone in the past twelve months is in the neighborhood of 150 per cent. In probably no other old established town in the United States has there ever before been an equal ratio of gain in a like time. The taxable value of property in the city of Seattle now exceeds that of any other town of the coast north of California except Portland.

A singular accident befell a man employed in a Fort Madison logging camp this morning. He had been chopping a tree down, and as the tree was about to fall he leaped or fell from his chopping board fastened in the tree six or eight feet above the ground. He had previously cut the tops off some brush at the foot of the tree, leaving the stubs sharpened, and as he fell head first two of them pierced him through the eye, and the other through the top of the head, killing him instantly, his body being found in that impaled condition by his friends some hours later.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Victoria Notes.

VICTORIA, May 4.—Steamship City of Chester from Portland, for Sitka, arrived this evening at 6 o'clock and will sail at 12 to-night.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Austrian Tariff Regulations.

VIENNA, May 4.—The reichsrath has adopted the proposal permitting the importation of grain duty free into Tyrol, Gorits and Gradish, and Trieste districts, Adelsburg in Carniola, Dalmatia and Herzegovina.

No Fear of American Products.

ROME, May 4.—In the chamber of deputies to-day, during discussion on the treaty of commerce with France, Signor Blanca, speaking in regard to the necessity of a European combination to make head against American importations, said Europe had no reason to fear an invasion of American products. The United States, he said, would soon force old Europe to solve the question of standing armies, which would be the means of giving back to agriculture and manufactures the stalwart arms now shut up in military barracks.

Affairs in Ireland.

DUBLIN, May 4.—Parnell, Dillon and O'Kelly started last night for Holyhead.

Three members of the land league of Tralie, sentenced to six months' imprisonment in default of bail, and many other suspects were released from Clonmel and Kilmainham jails. The released land leaguers celebrated last night at Balla, Belfast, Cork, Limerick, Londonderry and Youghall with torchlight processions, bonfires, illuminations, etc. General tranquility has prevailed.

United Ireland has an article headed "Coercion gives up the ghost," and asks the people not to lose their heads with giddy joy.

Notes on the Irish Situation.

LONDON, May 4.—It is stated Chamberlain is pressing on the government the extreme desirability of the appointment of an Irishman to succeed Forster.

The Leeds Mercury, a leading liberal organ, says Forster was disloyally treated by some of his colleagues, and especially Chamberlain.

The Standard says it is understood, after hesitation and with reluctance, Chamberlain accepts the office of chief secretary for Ireland. His appointment will be satisfactory to the extreme Irish party.

Earl Kimberly, colonial secretary, speaking at Hartford last evening, declared the government released suspects because they believed the back of agitation would break. He said the government intended to persevere steadily with remedial measures.

A Monstrous Theft.

VIENNA, May 4.—The Press says accomplices of the assassins who shot Gen. Strenlikoff took Strenlik off's pocket list of Nihilists to be arrested and plundered his apartment, taking documents furnishing complete plans of nihilists' motions, procedure and projects. The recovery of these papers by nihilists was a great blow to the authorities.

Trouble Ahead.

BERLIN, May 4.—Socialists in the reichstag, supported by a section of the progress ists, intend moving a repeal of all exceptionable legislation, including the laws against Jesuits and socialists. Bismarck is daily expected here.

England Joins the Circle.

England will co-operate with other nations in establishing a chain of circumpolar magnetic and meteorological observatories. Fort Rae, North Canada, is the station selected.

Parnell's Plans.

The News learns that the Parnellites will give the policy of Earl Spencer a fair trial. Parnell, Dillon and O'Kelly arrived this morning. Only a few persons met them at the depot.

Minister Lowell's Position.

A Telegram's Washington special says it is reported this afternoon again that Minister Lowell has been recalled and his successor selected.

THE APACHE OUTBREAK.

Crushing Defeat of the Hostiles.

LORDSBURG, N. M., April 3.—It is positively stated that in the fight of the 29th between Mexicans under Garcia and Loco's band, the Indians lost 78 killed and all their stock. Loco was killed and 33 Indians taken prisoners. The Mexican loss is stated at 37 killed and wounded. This information is from a reliable source and if it is confirmed, may be regarded as a death blow to the present Indian outbreak, which has resulted so disastrously to Arizona and New Mexico. A careful summary shows a total of 141 whites and Mexicans killed by Indians during the past two weeks, five hundred head of stock killed and captured, and the destruction of over $75,000 worth of property.

Indian Reports.

TUCSON, May 4.—A government courier arrived here this morning with dispatches and reports of finding Indians about 35 miles from Deming. They chased him into Corrielitio, where his horse gave out. Miners have come in from Tresbermanas. They report about 125 Indians in that section.

TOMBSTONE, May 4.—The Indian excitement is completely quieted. Capt. Harris, of the 1st cavalry, and command reached here to-day from Helm's ranch. No Indians in the vicinity. Capt. Harris thinks all the hostiles engaged escaped to Mexico. No hostiles are in the Dragoon mountains or anywhere else within 50 miles of Tombstone.

Praiseworthy Officers and Men.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The following dispatch forwarded to-day will indicate the stock taken by the lieutenant general in charges or insinuations against Col. Forsyth:

CHICAGO, May 4.

Gen. John Pope, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas: The lieutenant general commanding, desires to express to you his great gratification at the successful results obtained from the indefatigable pursuit of hostile Apaches by Lieutenant Colonel George A. Forsyth and his command. He believes the result obtained is due to the careful management of Colonel MacKenzie in the district of New Mexico, and Lieutenant Colonel Forsyth in keeping scouts in Mexico to watch the movements of the Indians, and by arriving at a special military understanding for cooperation with the Mexican military commanders on the border. The lieutenant general tenders especially his thanks to Lieutenant Colonel Forsyth and his officers, and to his command, and the officers and men of Major Tupper's command who appear to be associated with him. ROBT. WILLIAMS,
Ass't Adj't Gen.

NEW MEXICO.

Train Robbery in New Mexico.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., May 4.—The Santa Fe road last a sufferer from a genuine train robbery. This morning at 3 o'clock as the south bound emigrant train was standing at a siding at Glorieta, three desperate looking rustlers boarded the passenger coach and went through the passengers, robbing the badly frightened people without any resistance on their part. The total amount of losses foot up $500. An alarm was given as soon as the road agents disappeared, but search proved fruitless. The train continued its course, and from what can be learned, carried the robbers to Lamy, where they robbed the depot, hotel and McBeth's saloon, securing a great deal of miscellaneous plunder. The gang is spotted and efforts will be made to capture them. The leader was formerly a night watchman at Lamy.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 4.

Voorhees called up his resolution to investigate whether any corruption had been used or attempted in connection with the bonded whisky bill. He offered the resolution not because he believed the stories, but because his name had been used in the matter. He had never been approached by anybody, and it was well known how he stood.

Bayard passed a high compliment on Voorhees, and hoped the committee would not be appointed, as it was needless.

Merrill and Perry bore witness to Voorhees' integrity.

Windom had heard that a large sum of money had been raised, and he would like the matter looked into. If this bill passed it would give a basis for a whisky ring, compared with which that of a few years ago would be insignificant.

Beck didn't believe the story, and Atherton, to whom it was credited, had telegraphed him that his remarks had been greatly exaggerated, and that he never heard Voorhees' name mentioned by anyone in this connection. He vindicated the bill as a good, honest one, and the men who asked its passage are as honest as Windom.

By unanimous consent Windom withdrew his amendment to investigate the question of raising money, and Voorhees' resolution was indefinitely postponed.

Hawes raised a breeze by remarking, upon the resolution to purchase some back numbers of the Congressional Record, that it was the practice of congressmen to keep up trade by selling copies of government books to second hand dealers and then vote to buy them back.

Windom, Ransom and others said this charge involved the honor of members, and should be investigated.

A resolution postponing the bill reporting disqualification from army service imposed upon ex-confederates came up in order when Rollins' pending motion to commit to judiciary committee prevailed by a party vote—Yeas, 29, nays, 28. Davis of Illinois voted aye with the republicans. Mahone also voted aye.

The chair announced his signature to the Chinese bill, which now goes to the president.

Anthony offered a resolution directing the finance committee to inquire into and report upon the expediency of providing by law for the payment of the called or overdue bonds of the United States to the true owners thereof in cases in which any such bonds shall be lost, stolen or destroyed, and under suitable regulations for security of the United States against loss in such cases. He explained that his object was to extend the existing law so as to provide for stolen as well as destroyed bonds.

Senate resumed consideration of the court of appeals bill.

Vest's pending amendment prohibiting a district or circuit judge from sitting in appellate court upon a case tried before him in a lower court was agreed to; ayes 30, nays 11.

Morgan moved an amendment striking out the provision for rotating district judges in appellate court and making other changes; also preventing judicial appointments being made wholly from one political party; amendment rejected.

House.

House went into committee on the tariff commission bill. Kasson said he hoped to get a vote on Saturday.

Sherman introduced a bill for the preservation of woods and forests on the national domain adjacent to navigable rivers.

Hatch, of Missouri, entered into consideration of the general question of tariff, opposing its protective features and particularly declaring his hostility to the duty laid upon importation of salt.

Lane, of Maryland, speaking to the democratic side, in concluding his remarks, said: "I will vote with you against this bill, or for this bill and then will vote with you for any amendment that brings this house to the principle details of the tariff of 1846, and I will go to the country on that issue, and I have no doubt we shall have the support of the people."

Morrison of Illinois, member of the committee on ways and means, opposed the pending bill because he believed if it became a law it would support the general principles of the existing tariff. If the proposed commission reported a plan which would reduce the duties it would find its cemetery in the ways and means committee room and would never be submitted to the house. Protectionists admit that in all else save the cost of labor our manufacturers could compete with the world. Reduction of tariff for revenue purposes would benefit the manufacturer to the same extent that it cheapened the cost of material, and labor to the same extent that it cheapened the necessaries of life, while importers must levy more duties on imported goods than a manufacturer paid for the labor of making domestic goods. He then proceeded to make an elaborate argument in opposition to the tariff for protection.

Committee then rose and house adjourned.

AN ARRESTED CIVILIZATION.

Popular Science Monthly.

To any one who has thought about the Chinese, the contrast presented by a comparison of their civilization with the civilization of western nations must have given rise to frequent speculation as to the cause of so great a difference. Should we be brought into communication with another planet, we would hardly expect to find a great people more unlike us than the inhabitants of China.

They have existed substantially as at present from a time long before a single language existed which is spoken to-day in Europe, and even before our classic dead languages were born. While the tribes, nations and civilizations of the west have come and gone, the Chinese have remained the same generation after generation and century after century, content always to live and die in the conditions that fate has imposed upon them in the middle kingdom. A century and a half ago Du Halde wrote of their incurable conservatism, "that they have continued the same with regard to the attire, morals, laws, customs and manners, without deviating in the least from the wise institutions of their ancient legislators." And in our time we are told by the Abbe Huc—than whom no one has had better opportunities from which to judge—that "they seem to have been always living in the same stage of advancement as in the present day. Peaceful occupations, untiring industry, and a careful quality have characterized the habits of the people in the past as they do in the present. Wars were never justified except to secure peace, and upon the the cessation of hostilities the armies eagerly returned to their peaceful pursuits."

CANADA AND THE QUEEN.

I remember a curious incident that happened in Canada in connection with the British national anthem. In one of my lectures I described the pathetic abandonment of state ceremony at Sandringham, while the Prince of Wales lay sick there of what threatened so formidably to be a fatal illness. The audience listened spellbound. I uttered the sentence, "The queen strolled up and down in front of the house, unattended, in the brief interval she allowed herself from the sick-room." Suddenly came an interruption. A tall, gaunt figure in the crowd uprose, and, pointing at me a long finger on the end of a long arm, uttered the word "Stop!" Then, facing the audience, he exclaimed: "Ladies and gentlemen! This loyal audience will now sing 'God Save the Queen!'" The audience promptly stood up and obeyed with genuine fervor, I meanwhile patiently waiting the finale of the interlude. When it had finished, I proceeded with my narrative, and, as a contrast to the sorrow of Sandringham, depicted the happy pageant in St. Paul's cathedral on the thanksgiving-day for the prince's recovery. It is the custom in Canada to propose a vote of thanks to the lecturer, and the chairman rose and uttered the usual formula. Again the tall, gaunt figure was on its legs. "Ladies and gentlemen," said he, "I rise to propose an amendment to the motion. I move that the lecturer be requested to repeat the portion of the lecture referring to our gracious sovereign." And repeat it I did.—Archibald Forbes, in the May Century.

PARNELL INTERVIEWED.

The Released Member of Parliament Unbosoms himself to a "Herald" Reporter.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, May 4.—The Herald's London special says: Parnell was met this morning by a Herald representative at the Marine hotel, Kingstown, where he had driven last night on his release to avoid inconvenient manifestations and sympathy from his friends. He was accompanied by O'Kelly and Mr. Dillon. The health of the latter gentleman seems to have suffered considerably from his imprisonment, but Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Kelly are in their usual health. In reply to questions by the Herald representative Mr. Parnell made the following important announcements of his future policy and his relations with the government of Mr. Gladstone:

Correspondent—Was your release unexpected, and was it accompanied by any conditions?

Mr. Parnell—From the altered tone of the ministry since the meeting of parliament we had supposed that our release might have came in a few weeks, but we had no reason to anticipate it so soon. Consequently our release came upon us very much of a surprise. It is of course as stated by Gladstone last night in the house, entirely unconditional.

Correspondent—What are your views about Forster's resignation, and consequences likely to spring therefrom?

Mr. Parnell—I consider our release coupled with Mr. Forster's resignation, to indicate a determination on the part of the government in the first place, to amend the land act as far as may be possible during the present session, and a desire not to revert to the policy of coercion if as a result of their change of policy and a prospect of further remedial legislation, the state of Ireland should be materially improved and outrages diminish.

Correspondent—Do you believe that that result will follow conciliatory action?

Parnell—Yes, I shall be very much disappointed if the outrages which have so unhappily increased under the influences of coercion and the suppression of all constitutional action should not be materially diminished by a reversion of this policy. Certainly no effort of mine will be wanting in order to put an end to outrages and crime. But I cannot conceal from myself that the success of my exertions in this direction must materially depend upon the nature and extent of the remedial legislation proposed by the government and also upon the early and unconditional release of Michael Davitt and other popular leaders. Davitt had distinguished himself by his efforts to keep our cause unstained by excesses of any kind and his arrest more than a year ago was a fatal blow to the cause of order in Ireland.

Correspondent—Whom do you think most likely to succeed Mr. Forster.

Parnell—I have no means of forming an opinion on that point, but think he ought to be a strong man; one who is in accordance with real liberal thought and who from his position and character would be supported by public opinion in carrying out measures of reform. He might regard it necessary for the peace and well being of Ireland that such a statesman would estimate at its true value the influence of Dublin Castle, which proved so fatal to Forster, and would see the necessity for the participation of Irishmen under some representative system, in the management of their own affairs in accordance with the wishes of the majority. As one of the results of the improved condition of the country which I look forward to I should hope for the abolition of the system of military magistrates and military police, to whose provocative action and attitudes much of the disorder and many of the outrages are due.

Correspondent—Do you consider that the prospects for self-government in Ireland have been improved by the change in the government's policy?

Mr. Parnell—Undoubtedly. I believe the change to indicate a desire on the part of the government to examine into and discuss this great question with us with a view to its solution, and a growing belief on their part that upon the satisfactory solution of this question after the land problem has been worked out, must depend the peace and prosperity of Ireland.

The California Outlook.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The cool, showery weather of the past few days is having its effect upon prices, as its continuance for a few weeks will give crops an impetus that can hardly be overcome by an average norther later on, which is now all that is to be feared. Markets which till lately have been tending upward, have now come to a pause, or, as is the case with barley, have commenced to recede. On call yesterday all grades of barley were lower, and wheat barely held its own.

The ship Tabor, chartered for Adelaide direct, has a full cargo on board, 41,950 centals, valued at $62,230, and will clear for that port as soon as sailors, which are particularly scarce at this time, can be procured. The Jenny Harkness and Solitaire, both chartered for Australia, will probably finish loading this week.

The merchandise market is dull, at unchanged quotations. Bags continued to droop, and yesterday's sales on call were at a further decline.

Medical Testimony on Guiteau.

CHICAGO, May 4.—At a meeting of the Medico-Legal Society to-night, a paper by Dr. A. O. Kellogg, on the analysis of the mental condition of Charles J. Guiteau, was read by Dr. W. A. Hammond. The writer claimed the assassin was morally depraved, but not insane when he killed the president.

NOVEL AND STARTLING SCHEME.

Mr. Jennings, one of the ablest of the London correspondents of American papers, is authority for the statement that the English conservative party has at last settled upon a policy, the want of which has made them, in recent days, the sport of their old enemies, the liberals. The issue which they propose to try is no other than a new idea for the settlement of the interminable Irish question. Upon this the tories, it is said, are about to out-radical the radicals; to make a clean sweep of the United Kingdom; and leave the opposition hopelessly beaten with its own weapons. The scheme which, it is reported, will be laid before parliament on the first Monday in May, is neither more nor less than the application to Ireland of that principle which has ever been a dream of the socialist and the scorn of the economist—the nationalization of the land. The government is to buy out all the landlords who are willing to sell their estates, on the basis of twenty-one years' rent, as determined by the action of the land courts. Land debentures bearing four per cent would be issued to the sellers, the state guaranteeing their payment at maturity, and the Irish church funds being made a part of the guarantee. On the same principle the arrears of rent are to be disposed of; part being remitted by the landlord, and part paid off with capital advanced by the state. The details of the scheme are not yet explained, but the foregoing are the general principles.

The plan is a startling one, but it is not difficult to see how it might be adopted by the liberals as a political measure. For several years past that party has labored under the disadvantage of having no definite idea on which it could go before the people and declare "this is our policy." It must find some such central and centralizing issue or die of political atrophy. The Irish question is the one best adapted to party purposes. It has engaged the attention of every Englishman for centuries, and it will answer once more the purpose of a rallying cry. Ireland, too, is the best point of attack upon Mr. Gladstone and his followers. The liberals staked everything upon a just and moderate policy in Irish affairs, hoping thus to banish this pestilent question from public controversies. They have not succeeded. The blame may, and in great part doubtless does, belong to Parnell and the league; but the fact remains that the condition of Ireland to-day is a greater perplexity to the premier than upon the day when he last assumed his office. Ireland is the vulnerable point of the liberal party. The new policy is skillfully framed to unite all elements against the regime of Gladstone. It conciliates at the outset the English land owner, for it offers compensation by the state. It attracts the English landlord, because he was already getting nervous over the virtual confiscation of Irish estates; and he is now assured that if ever there should be agrarian agitation in England, the state would be bound by precedent to stand between him and loss. The home rulers and the Irish of every degree would support it in a body; for is not its central principle the familiar cry of "Ireland for the Irish"? It would gradually abolish personal landlordism, and banish every Briton from Ireland. It would satisfy every demand of Erin except that for absolute independence. It is therefore apparent that a movement of this sort would have a formidable support from the outset. It would combine the Tories, whose party allegiance for good or evil is as strong as that of the democrats, the home rulers, at least one section of the radicals, and all that large number of people who long to have the Irish difficulty settled on any basis and at any cost, so that the settlement be a permanent one. Justice to Ireland would be a strange battle-cry against Mr. Gladstone, but it is by no means sure that it would not bring victory. The new idea is no more repugnant to sound economic views than the "fair trade" delusion which the conservatives would very gladly have supported had it not fallen a dead weight, while politically it is far more taking among all classes.

That the principal of this move will not stand analysis is a very obvious fact. To point out its defects analytically is to almost insult intelligence. This transfer of the land of a country to the government would require an addition of anywhere from $50,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 to the national debt. The amount could no more be determined in advance than the cost of a pension bill or the length of a comet's tail. To this must be added the amount advanced for payment of rent arrears. But the first cost of nationalizing the land is not its worst objection. The difficulty between landlord and tenant is simply this: the conditions of Irish agriculture are such, that when rent is fixed at a fair figure, the tenant groans under what he terms an extortion; while the landlord receives perhaps from 1 to 2 per cent on his capital. Substitute the state for the landlord, and you do not change the arithmetic of the problem. Rent would be as hateful and Irish feeling ten times as bitter, if the tax had to be paid to the English treasury instead of to a private English or Irish gentleman. Under no circumstances could the state realize from the land it would purchase a rate of profit more than half what it would have to pay upon the capital borrowed to make the purchase. On the one hand, therefore, would be all the Irish hatred of landlordism, concentrated against the English state; and on the other would be the perpetual sinking fund, into which the English taxpayer must pour his contributions to make up the government deficit. It would be cheaper for the state to make the Irish people a present of the land outright at the beginning and have done with it. What else would the imperial government come to be considered but an absentee landlord, and what reception would the peasantry accord to its tax collectors? The scheme is one to breed revolution and ruin, yet it is the one cautiously outlined by the marquis of Salisbury, and it is quite credible that he should seriously propose it. The tory party must do something to catch the public eye. This part would certainly be as picturesque as any played by it under Lord Beaconsfield, and strikingly similar to its brilliant experiment on the household suffrage question. The obstacle to its success is the solid common sense of the English middle class, and the sensitiveness of the British pocket, which may easily be made to take the alarm.

But what a sight it would be if the next English contest should be as to which party should be allowed to contribute most toward Irish independence. A conservative Irish land bill to buy the island and present it to its inhabitants, while England pays the interest on the purchase money, would be one of the oddest incidents of modern parliamentary history.

Senator McDill, of Iowa, who has had experience as a state railroad commissioner, has introduced a new inter-state commerce bill. While it prohibits in a general way all "unjust discriminations," the main purpose of the measure is the establishment of a national commission, which shall supplement and render more complete and effective the work in which state commissions may be engaged. Its usefulness would consist mainly in investigating alleged abuses and grievances, and suggesting remedies, first to the offending corporations, and, if they are neglected, afterward to congress, as the basis of enactments for their enforcement. Mr. McDill holds that it is impracticable for congress to regulate charges upon railroads or to lay down any rule in accordance with which they can be regulated, but he is of opinion that something useful may be done by providing for the exposure of abuses and for such a continuous supervision of railroad operations as shall afford full knowledge of their workings and afford suggestions for such remedial legislation as may be found practicable.

"PROTECTION" AND WAGES.

At a recent meeting of the tariff-reform association of New York, Prof. Sumner of Yale college exposed the fallacy of "protection" as it assumes to protect American labor. The protectionist's argument, said Prof. Sumner, presents, from time to time, a constant source of variations and new phases. Public attention centers around this issue particularly in view of its pretense of protection of wages. The laboring man is told that this is the effect of the tariff; but congress cannot give one cent to anybody that it does not take from somebody else. The tariff can make nothing out of foreigners. Wages cannot depend on anything but the supply and the demand of labor. As a workingman well expressed it a few years ago at a labor investigation in this country—he covered the whole ground, and no economist can improve what he said: "I know when two bosses are running after one man wages are high; when there are two men running after the one boss wages are low." That embraces the science, theory and practice of the whole subject. Instead of increasing wages, said the professor, the tariff lowers them, and any analysis will demonstrate it.

When the protectionist wishes to carry out his policy he must put some sort of political economy behind it to support it, and the result is an absurdity. Protection comes before the American people bearing in its embrace three great falsehoods, around which are clustered a large family connection of minor untruths, as first, that it protects the American laborer; second, that it benefits the consumer; third, that it increases the national wealth. Now abideth these three lies; but the greatest of these is the first. All that the workingman has for sale is his labor, his skill, his intelligence and muscle. When he offers these to the protected manufacturer he does it in competition with the whole world. Though the manufacturer, by ringing the changes upon "American labor" and appealing to the popular feeling of the people in that behalf, has obtained the enactment of a law taxing all consumers an average of 50 per cent on every dutiable article for the benefit of American labor, yet with him at the door of that factory stands competing labor from every country in Europe, from every country in America—from Asia, Africa, Australia, and the islands of the sea. From among these hands uplifted for bread, the manufacturer makes his choice on the strictest principles of free trade. He never once thinks or dreams of dividing this bounty, which the people have placed in his hands, with the American laborer. A great law of political economy—the law of supply and demand—regulates the price of that labor; but the moment the finished article from the laborer's hands is offered for sale that great law of supply and demand is abolished, and in its stead is substituted the protective tariff, which says to the consumer, you shall buy at my price, for I will not permit the foreigner to intrude with competing products. The manufacturer's protection is secured by law; the laborer's depends on the charity of his employer.

The pretence that protection benefits the consumer prima facie bears no sort of application to any kind of consumer except the agriculturist, who has something to sell to protected people. They say the tariff enables the manufacturers to pay higher wages to the workman and higher prices to the farmer. The fallacy here consists in the implication that he will pay higher wages and prices simply because he is able to do it, when, in fact, we know that he will buy his food as he does his labor, at prices regulated by free competition, and not by his ability to pay. There is no law compelling him to pay high wages or high prices for farm products, but there is a law compelling the laborer and the farmer to pay him high prices for his manufactured products. Common sense instinctively rejects the idea that a man is benefited by fifty per cent being added to everything he buys. We are not indebted to congress for any of the wealth we enjoy. But the tariff not only diminishes wages, but it lowers and diminishes the comforts of the American people. Nineteen men out of every twenty living in the country are sufferers by the tariff, and only one is benefited by it.

Mr. Sumner said, referring to the action of congress with reference to the Chinese: It was but a few days ago that many advocates of this protective policy, the men who roll the words "American laborer" as a sweet morsel under their tongues, voted in congress to keep open that tide of immigration from the Chinese empire which threatens to deluge and which is able in a short time to deluge this fair land with the degraded off-scouring of a surplus population; with men who can and do work for less and live upon less than any known class of mankind. By those "protectionists" the Chinese would be permitted—nay invited—to come by the hundreds of thousands, because they are industrious and their labor is cheap. Is this protecting American labor? Should not any one who uses this slogan, yet so votes to nullify it, feel ashamed every time he looks into the face of an American workingman? In fact, if they are honest men, the protectionists should cease this false cry and emblazon the truth on their banners—"Free trade in flesh and blood; protection to the capital which manufactures; competition in human labor; monopoly in calico and blankets." Let the workingmen all over this broad land, in the fields and in the factory, know that the policy they have been deluded into sustaining invites the fiercest competition against them in all that they have to sell—their muscle; and excludes them from its benefits in all that they have to buy.

The legislature at its coming session should pass a law which would punish cruelty to animals. Horses are outrageously abused on the streets of Portland almost daily—see THE OREGONIAN's local page of yesterday for examples—and although a humane society exists it is powerless to prosecute offenders. It is not too early to agitate the matter.

The rains of the past few days have been general through western Oregon and were welcomed by the farmers. THE OREGONIAN is collecting information in regard to grain acreage and crop prospects, which it is thought will show a very gratifying condition of affairs.

Efforts are being made in California to establish manufactures, and leading capitalists are lending the movement their aid.

CITY.

OREGON CITY FLOURING MILLS CO.—At a stockholders' meeting of the above company held at the office of Ladd & Tilton, Wednesday, W. S. Ladd, W. S. Sibson, Donald Macleay, A. Bush and J. S. Cochran were elected directors. At a subsequent meeting of directors A. Bush was elected president, W. H. Creighton, secretary; Sibson, Church & Co., general agents and managers; Wm. Scott, agent abroad, with residence at Liverpool; J. S. Cochran, manager at Oregon City.

REDUCTION OF FORTY PER CENT.—Beginning early next month, the O. R. & N. Co. will sell round trip tourists' excursion tickets from Portland to the Cascades, The Dalles, the seaside resorts, to all points on the Sound, to Victoria and Alaska at 60 per cent. of regular rates. They will be sold only to bona fide tourists, however, and will be limited in time. This is the first general reduction for pleasure seekers ever made by a transportation company in this state.

UNKNOWN GRAVES.—At an adjourned meeting of the committee on decoration day ceremonies, it was ordered that notice be given through the newspapers that all persons having knowledge of the location of graves of deceased soldiers, which are not now marked or designated, make known the fact to the committee or any of the members; it being the desire that no soldier's grave shall be omitted, but that all may be remembered and decorated.

NATURAL REQUEST.—Upon the arrival of every steamer inquiries are made by a large proportion of immigrants for localities settled by persons of their own nationality, or from their own state. To enable the officers to give such intelligence promptly, the bureau of immigration here have addressed letters to men in eastern Oregon and Washington who are well informed in such matters, asking for the personnel of each neighborhood.

CASES SET FOR TRIAL.—Following are the cases set for trial in the state circuit court during this term: Austin vs Lehy, 10th; Hunal on vs Woodward & Meggon, 9th; Hunnason vs Thompson, 11th; Lung Chung Yuen vs Timmons & Co., 11th; State vs Ah Jim, 8th; State vs Henry White, 9th; State vs Carrie Bradley, 16th; J. B. McIntosh vs R. V. S. M. Co., 22d; W. J. Eaton vs H. E. Jones, 23d; Cox vs Wilson, 10th.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES FOR OREGON.—The Northern Pacific bureau of immigration yesterday received notification from the New York office that Wm. Frey and four companions, representing a large number of Russian Jewish refugees, had left New York for Portland. They are commissioned by their associates to select a location for settlement, and will probably arrive by the next steamer.

TO SEND MEMORIAL.—At a special meeting of the board of trade yesterday afternoon, Messrs. J. B. Montgomery, H. W. Corbett and C. H. Dodd were appointed a committee to draft and forward to the secretary of war, by telegraph, a memorial praying for an appropriation of $29,000 for scraping Columbia river bar. Capt. Powell, U. S. engineer, will second the request.

ON DECK AGAIN.—Jim Turk was arrested yesterday on complaint of Henry Boon, who charged him with assault and battery. He was arraigned before Justice Davis, where the strongest evidence shown by the prosecuting witness was a set of false teeth broken in pieces, which Boon says was caused by a blow from Turk's manly "paw." Turk was fined 25 and paid it.

INDICTED FOR LARCENY.—The grand jury yesterday presented an indictment against James Petty for larceny. Petty is charged with "towing" a man about town and after getting him drunk, robbing him of a watch, several dollars and some other small articles.

THE VANCOUVER FERRY.—The ferryboat Veto No. 2, Capt. Foster, will commence regular trips between Vancouver and the Oregon shore on Saturday next. The road is in fair condition and stages will commence trips at once to Portland and return.

SLIGHT FIRE.—A one story dwelling on Sixth street between Washington and Alder, caught fire at the roof from a defective flue, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The flames were put out with buckets. Damage slight. No alarm was turned in.

CIRCULAR SAW ACCIDENT.—J. Bridgman, an employe at Penoyer's saw mill, yesterday had three fingers of his left hand cut off while working at a circular saw. He was taken to Drs. Chapman and Kane's office, where his hand was dressed.

MONDAY TO PLEAD.—William Nelson, who is in confinement on a charge of robbing the store of Mollis Bros. & Co., was arraigned in the state circuit court yesterday. He was given until Monday, the 8th inst., in which to plead.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—John Rines was arrested yesterday evening on complaint of W. T. Shanahan, who charges him with cruelty to animals. He deposited $50 bail for his appearance in the police court to-day.

RETURNED.—Rev. George Sloan returned from the east by yesterday's steamer after seven years' absence. He goes to Seattle this morning to resume charge of the Presbyterian church in that city.

THE STEAMERS.—The State of California crossed in at 5:15 yesterday morning, left for Portland at 10, and reached here at 5:45 P. M. The Oregon arrived down at 10:25 and crossed out at 1:20 P. M.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.—This afternoon at 1 o'clock the high school will hold exercises commemorative of Emerson and Darwin. The public is invited.

DESERTING MUSICIAN.

FORT WALLA WALLA, May 2.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Emil Pferdner, of the First Cavalry Band, deserted from Fort Walla Walla on the 1st day of May with a suit of clothing borrowed from another member of the band, under the pretense of using it to get married in. Said Pferdner is a good business musician, and took a prominent part in the concerts given by the band at Portland last season. It is probable that he may have gone to Victoria, with the intention of teaching music, being somewhat known among musical and theatrical people. He is about thirty years old, five feet six or seven inches high, has black hair, sprinkled with gray about the forehead, a slight dark mustache, ruddy complexion, and gray eyes; was born in Berlin, and enlisted at San Francisco, October, 1878, having formerly served in the Fifth Cavalry Band in Arizona. He may be easily recognized from the fact that he is very bow-legged, and has a noticeable lisp when speaking. A reward of $30 will be paid for his apprehension.

The musical fraternity should beware of trusting him, for he is without moral principle, having abandoned his wife in California, and left her an invalid, dependent upon public charity.

ERASTUS M. WALKER,
Chief Musician 1st U. S. Cavalry.

Victoria papers please copy.

AMUSEMENTS.

The second night of the Minstrels drew another house, if possible larger than the opening night. "Mulligan's Picnic" grows upon acquaintance, and was received with great favor. Little Flora Walsh is a remarkably precocious child, and besides having a sweet, well modulated voice, is quite at home on the stage. She is down for a number of the acts this evening. The fact is, Manager Steinhas has brought up a first-class entertainment in its line, and he is reaping the reward. The Minstrels will play to probably as large a business as did Joan Owens.

To-night is offered for the first part and the olio, an entire change of programme, which appears in the advertising columns. Matinee Saturday.

BRIEF MENTION.

The minstrels offer a change of programme to-night.

Temperance lecture by Gov. Add Ryman at New Market this evening.

GOOD FOR SORE EYES.
THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT IN JUNE, 1881, I had acute inflammation in my eyes, and in spite of all the surgical aid I received in Oregon my eyes continued to get worse, until at length I became helplessly blind. In August I went to San Francisco and was under the treatment of two oculists of considerable repute. One was a professor of diseases of the eye, and I remained under his care one month, but continuing to get worse, I changed to another so-called specialist, to find I was only jumping out of the frying-pan into the fire. I next consulted Dr. Pardee, 621 Clay street, San Francisco. His treatment relieved me from the very first and I continued to improve day by day, until I could see to read as well as any one. I found his treatment both simple and mild, different from any and all other treatments I had received. My residence is in Astoria, Oregon. Insert this card at my own expense out of pure gratitude to Dr. Pardee and without his knowledge, to let any similarly afflicted know where to go to get their eyes cured, as I have been through the mill and speak from sad experience. m8d&w HENRY HARRISON.

AFTER INGERSOLL.

REV. DR. JACKSON REVIEWS THE INFIDEL'S WORKS.

He Considers the Special Pleading of the Advocate Flimsy Sophistry and that Ingersoll Knows it is such.

Pittsburg Gazette.

The Rev. Dr. Jackson, of London, England, delivered the third and last of a series of lectures last evening in the Church of God, Townsend street, for the benefit of the church. His subject was "The Ignorance (?) of Robert Ingersoll," meaning more especially the mistakes and misapprehensions of Mr. Ingersoll. No system, said he, is more open to mistakes and misapprehensions than Christianity. Its doctrines and institutions have shared the fate of its morals. Yet it is the church and not the truth which has changed its nature. Astronomy, geology and other sciences have been misunderstood and covered with obloquy, yet by the effort of strong and honest thought they have emerged into the clear light. So monasticism and other early errors caused the church to deteriorate, but the thinking and preaching of a Luther again elevated to its lofty position the light of Christianity. Let us not confound Christianity with the substitutions and sophistries of men. She is not what many have supposed her. To estimate her character, let us not go to the writings of the Fathers, neither to the books of commentators, the decisions of councils, nor to the tenets of a church, but go only to the word of God.

Robert Ingersoll is a lawyer who has accepted a brief from infidelity as his client, and is publicly engaged in the prosecution of an action against christianity. There is the ardor of his profession in the charges he prefers, the evidence he advances, the one-sidedness of his views, the ingenuity of his sophistries, the plain suppression of truth, the audacity of his statements, the bullying of his opposers, the tortuous twisting of facts, the pretension of candor, and the free and judicious use of appetizing condiments in the shape of sparkling witticisms, gossamer fancy, gorgeous imagery, scathing sarcasm, ornate eloquence and plaintive poetry. We cannot hear such a speaker without the thought insiduously intruding—in case he was engaged in behalf of the defendant instead of the plaintiff, with what ease he could explode his own sophistries, break the flimsy threads with which he seeks in the interests of lies to bind the truth. Every page of every lecture of this special pleader abounds with gross exaggerations, hideous distortions, palpable falsehoods and strange confusion of ideas. There is nothing perhaps he more persists and delights in than ascribing to christianity those faults and crimes which in all fairness properly and only belong to the ignorance and malice of her mistaken and hypocritical professors. How unjust is all this, especially in a man who plumes himself on possessing at least the religion of honesty and truthfulness! Not a whit less fair is it to charge the whole constitution of ancient Rome with all the dark and damnable crimes committed in her name by those who were often sworn to the different branches of her executive. The Roman empire, like modern America and christianity before the German reformation, had indeed a glorious constitution, but a rotten executive. Religion is to be judged not by her exceptional and unworthy adherents—the weakness of the ignorant or the wickedness of the designing—but by the excellency of her doctrines, and the glorious charts of blessings which she confers.

The second charge which the lecturer preferred against Ingersoll was, that while he professes to despise and contemn Christianity, he exhausts his vocabulary in eulogy of marriage and family relationship, civil government and public morality, philanthropy and patriotism, and the arts and sciences. Not content with confounding things that differ—if by this means he can serve his nefarious purpose—in charging the Christian religion with all the monstrosities, crimes and follies, which have been through ignorance or malice perpetrated in her name, he undertakes to demonstrate the absurdity that a corrupt tree can bring forth good fruit, and that the effect is not of the nature of the cause. The monuments of a true benevolence in the shape of hospitals, asylums, alms-houses, infirmaries, [illegible] are to be found nowhere in those countries in which the gospel of Christ has not been preached, and exerted its benign and salutary influence. Just in proportion to the prevalence of the ideas of the Christian religion in any country, so is the prosperity of that country. What ingratitude and blindness can be greater than to avow with the same breath the repudiation of Christianity and yet also an [illegible] of those excellencies which alone follow in the train of her mild and beneficent reign! There is not a great discovery of science nor a scheme of philosophy but what bears the name of some Christian scholar; and is there evidenced in all ages that the profoundest [illegible] is not only compatible with, but [illegible] dependent upon that character which [illegible] of the acceptance and expression of [illegible]. Shakespeare and Milton and Dante have incarnated for all time the very soul of poetry, and their witching strains are so [illegible] that they caught their inspiration and [illegible] their torches at the burning altar of the old Hebrew bards.

In [illegible] to Mr. Ingersoll's effort to [illegible] Christianity the stigma of slavery, the lecturer quoted from Macaulay: "The [illegible] Christian morality is [illegible] to distinctions of caste. [illegible] Romish distinctions are [illegible] they are incompatible with [illegible] which are essential to her system. She ascribes to every [illegible] dignity which entitles him to [illegible] of every layman, and she does not [illegible] disqualified, by reason of his [illegible] family, for the priesthood. Her doctrines concerning the priesthood, however erroneous they may be, have repeatedly mitigated some of the worst evils which can afflict society." So far from Christianity being chargeable, according to Ingersoll, with most of the evils which afflict mankind, the world is indebted to even a corrupt form of her system for that blessed panacea through the application of which, grievous sores affecting the body politic have been softened, cleansed and healed. In closing, the lecturer referred to the numerous instances of infidels who in moments of extreme danger acknowledge God by resorting to prayer. It is a proof, he said, of an innate tendency. The bible is the only key which can unlock the [illegible] of the human heart. The bible is the word of God, and man's mind is the work of God—they cannot contradict.

LONGFELLOW.

A [illegible] to Perpetuate the Memory of the Poet, in Which all his Admirers may have an Opportunity to Contribute.

Boston, April 19.—It has been proposed to raise $50,000 for a Longfellow ward in the Cambridge hospital as a memorial to the late poet, but, in order to erect a memorial in Cambridge which shall commemorate him not merely as a man of sympathy or as a professor in the university, but as a poet of the people wherever human life responded to his cheerful philosophy, it is understood that an organization has been perfected to carry out a suggestion which must appeal to all by its nice fitness for the purpose. The pleasure of assisting in any memorial to him is greatly enhanced by the thought of keeping intact a piece of natural beauty which he had preserved as long as he lived. The Advertiser to-morrow will say:

"All who knew him will recall with what pleasure he looked over the hedge of lilacs southward through a green open field to the river Charles and the blue hills beyond. It is proposed, if the funds can be raised for this object, to purchase this open field, keep it open, and place in it a bronze or marble statue of the poet. The graceful sentiment of this proposal is the best of tributes to the affection he inspired among his neighbors, and there is to be no question of the success of the movement. An opportunity is to be given to young and old in every country to contribute to this plan, which will retain the associations of Mr. Longfellow's presence with the fine old mansion in which he lived, and where Sparks wrote the life of the first president, who was himself an occupant of the house during the seige of Boston. At least $100,000 will be necessary to purchase the ground and lay out the garden proposed and erect a statue, which should be, of course, the best that can be made. Mr. Longfellow's fine bearing and noble face would lend themselves most admirably to the sculptor's use. The movement, it is said, has the sympathy and approval of the poet's friends and family, and is to be put into the hands of those who will have the greatest personal reasons for its complete success. The officers and committees are to be announced in a few days. While no haste should be made in settling questions of taste, it would be well to give the public an opportunity to contribute funds at once."

A Half Million Negroes Who Want Transportation to Liberia.

New York Times, April 18.

The American Colonization Society, an organization established more than fifty years ago for the purpose of promoting the emigration of free negroes to Africa, made an appeal to the public of this city, last evening, at a meeting held at the brick church on Fifth avenue. Mr. William E. Dodge presided, and the Rev. Dr. S. I. Prime conducted the preliminary services. The first speaker was the Rev. R. S. Storrs, D. D., of Brooklyn, who predicted that the society was destined to accomplish a great work in the immediate future. Half a million of negroes who had once been slaves were, he said, now waiting and praying for some means to effect their return to Africa, and however, in its earlier days, he might have dissented from the aims of the society as tending to encourage rather than to extinguish slavery, its work he could now heartily indorse. It had been well said by a distinguished writer that the nineteenth century had made a man of the African; to the twentieth century would descend the creation of a new world in Africa. Dr. Storrs expatiated upon the physical resources and advantages of the African continent as disclosed by the discoveries of the last half century, and adverted to the progress already made by modern commerce in developing and utilizing these resources. Thirty-four missionary societies are, he stated, now represented on the African coast, but it is principally through colonization, carried on by enlightened means, that the redemption of the continent from barbarism is to be effected. Dr. Storrs closed with an appeal in behalf of the colonizing movement, and was followed by Mr. Thomas G. Patterson, of Washington, who stated that the society had successfully established a free state in Africa with a republican form of government, administered exclusively by colored people. The industry, order, and sobriety of its inhabitants are attested by all who have visited Liberia. There are churches and schools in every settlement. During its existence the society has given transportation to 15,575 liberated slaves and to 5722 negroes recaptured, making in all 21,297 persons. In all 172 voyages have been made by emigrant vessels under the auspices of the society, and not a single disaster has occurred. Dr. Patterson read letters from intelligent negroes in the south and southwest showing the existence of a strong movement looking to the colonization in Africa as a means of bettering the condition of their race, and asking for information as to the resources of the society to answer the demand. What the society wanted, Dr. Patterson said, was money—thousands where it once required only hundreds—and it now confidently appeals to the American people to furnish needed funds. The Rev. Dr. Roswell D. Hitchcock spoke briefly, indorsing the society and its objects.

Thursday, May 4.

During the week the wheat market has continued firm, and some business has been done on the basis of $1 67½ per cental, delivered in Portland. The amount offering is, however, small, and most shippers are indifferent about buying, the demand being for milling purposes, and the above price may be quoted as the market value for good milling wheat. The surplus seems to be about exhausted, and a few more cargoes will close the season of 1881-82 as far as wheat is concerned, though a considerable amount of flour will still come forward for export, both from the valley and Eastern Oregon.

There have been no charters reported during the week, and freights may be nominally quoted at 55s U. K. for wood, while 10s per ton more is asked by those who have freight on iron vessels to sub-let. The Wanlock has been "laid on" to load salmon for London, and the Markland loads wheat on owners' account. This leaves the Osseo and Adolf Obrig open for charter, and several others due.

The purchasers of the brick mill at Oregon City have organized their corporation under the name of the Oregon City Flouring Mills company, and have elected the following board of directors: A. Bush, W. S. Ladd, Donald Macleay, Wm. S. Sibson and Jas. S. Cochran. Mr. Bush is president, W. H. Creighton secretary and Sibson, Church & Co., general agents and managers, with Mr. Cochran superintendent of the mills at Oregon City and Mr. Wm. Scott agent of the company in Liverpool.

From reliable sources we learn that the California surplus for next season is estimated at not exceeding 700,000 tons for export, and shippers do not show much disposition to charter ahead at rates now asked by ship-owners, as with a comparative failure of crops in Australia it is anticipated that reasonable rates of freight will prevail on this coast the coming season. We hear that one vessel has been chartered for next October, loading here at 65s, which is considered a full rate.

THE ENGLISH GRAIN MARKET.

The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the English grain market for the week ending Saturday last, says:

There has been no general improvement in the grain trade. The supply of native wheat in last week's markets was very liberal, but the proportion of fine qualities was very small. Trade in foreign wheat on spot is unchanged and quiet. At Liverpool trade lost tone during the week. Californians generally 1 per cent. lower. Maize weaker. Barley and flour unaltered. Flouring wheat very much restricted, owing to scant supplies. Sales of English wheat during the week, 41,702 quarters, at 46s 11d per quarter, against 29,318 quarters at 44s 9d per quarter the corresponding week last year

THE SALMON CATCH.

Reports from down the Columbia are very discouraging. The Astorian of the 3d inst. says: William Hume, the pioneer packer of the river, informs us that the run of salmon for April has been the smallest he has ever known here, and Capt. James B. Booker, a man of fourteen years' experience on the river, corroborates the statement. The preparations and facilities for catching fish this year are greater than ever before; yet the pack for April is fully 18,000 cases short of the packs of 1880 and 1881 for the same month. The following canneries, from which a fair estimate of the entire work of the whole river is indicated, report as follows:

Wm. Hume, for April, 1882, 360 cases short of 1881; George W. Hume, for April, 1882, 962 cases short of 1881; Eureka Packing Co., for April, 1882, 1015 cases short of 1881 (over 50 per cent.); Astoria Packing Co., for April, 1882, 500 cases short of 1881; Anglo-American Packing Co., for April, 1882, 200 cases short of 1881; Wetherby & Thomas, for April, 1882, 300 cases short of 1881; Fishermen's Packing Co., for April, 1882, 450 cases short of 1881 (50 per cent.); J. G. Megler & Co., for April, 1882, over 1200 cases short of 1881 (over 50 per cent). "The foregoing list includes all canneries from which we have obtained figures, but the probabilities are that others could give corresponding reports with, perhaps, one or two exceptions.

WOOL.

Wool is beginning to arrive from Eastern Oregon in small quantities. About 150,000 pounds have been received here to date, most of which is being held for the present, awaiting information of sales at wool centers before making sales here. Too little has been received yet to form an intelligent opinion as to what the quality and condition of the clip will be. The opinion has prevailed that this season's clip would be in better condition than even that of last year, but the condition of that received to date does not warrant that belief. It would seem reasonable, however, to believe that the season's clip will be of average quantity and condition. There are no sales of any magnitude to report and prices are not fairly established, but if sales were made it would be at a range of prices from 18 to 23c. Shearing in the valley will not begin for some four to six weeks yet. Wools from the Willamette valley are becoming in less favor with buyers each year, and unless growers take measures to improve the quality of their wools and also give more attention to its condition, they will cease to attract attention.

The trade is reviewed by the Boston Advertiser of April 8th as follows: "The market has been more active and there is no doubt that the past two weeks has been a good time to buy wool. The market has been in buyers' favor, holders have been anxious to close out any odd lots they might be possessed of before the new clips should come along; commission houses have received instructions from shippers to sell out the stocks in their hands before beginning afresh, and, in short, it has been a time when bargains could be picked up. It is certainly better that manufacturers should obtain what wool they may need for some weeks to come now than to be obliged to rush into the country for supplies, or to enter the home market just when the new clips are coming forward. The California clip is the earliest, and will be heard from in a few weeks, but as yet buyers have not left this market for the Elysian fields of the anti-Chinese realm. There is not likely to be any rush this year. Last spring there was a large outpouring and the results were unsatisfactory. Prices were advanced in California beyond reason, and some large losses were made. It can be set down in advance of the opening of any clip that one order sent into the country to buy will create more excitement than the sale of four times the quantity of wool in this the leading wool market of the country. Just now the mails are bringing letters from parties all over the country, from the wool sections, soliciting orders to buy wool, many of them mentioning the fact that they are on such good terms with the farmers of their vicinity that they will give them the preference in selling their clips. It seems an original inducement this to hold out to eastern buyers and shows how independent the farmers are in extending a preference to buyers, whereas we should naturally expect the advantage to be to the farmer in receiving the preference in the transaction. Such remarks show also that the interests of eastern buyers are not served as are the farmers by these local buyers, and the whole system seems to be a bad one for the eastern manufacturer. The latter should wait until the market is well stocked with new wool, when undoubtedly purchases would be made to better advantage. There will be wool enough to carry the manufacturers over till the new clip. The total receipts of wool at this port during the past week comprised 2027 bales domestic and 5105 bales foreign, against 1818 bales domestic and 580 bales foreign for the same time last year. The total receipts since January 1, 1882, comprise 71,051 bales domestic and 17,394 bales foreign, against 64,590 bales domestic and 9001 bales foreign for the corresponding period of 1881."

Portland Produce Prices.

Flour continues very firm. The demand for standard brands is very good. There is more inquiry for choice country brands. Oats have advanced and are very firm at quotations. Sales are mostly for shipment to San Francisco. The local trade is limited. No change in barley. Nothing new in hay. Mill feed of all kinds continues scarce. The demand is greater than the supply. Dealers are unable to supply the local trade with bran. Cured meats continue firm. Prices remain unchanged. Lard in kegs is rather scarce. There is a little more inquiry for dried apples. Choice qualities will find ready sale at top prices. Dried plums are very dull sale. Hops are unchanged. No change in hides. Choice Oregon dairy butter is beginning to come in more freely. Shipments from California are rather light in consequence. Country store butter is rather dull sale. Choice onions are scarce and wanted. Eggs dropped during the week to 16 cents, but owing to light receipts and export demand,—shippers having taken up all the surplus stock—prices have advanced again to 18 cents, and are now firm at that price. No change in cheese. The market is wholly supplied from California. Apples are out of market. Chickens have declined, owing to large receipts. The potato market is very firm. Favorable advices from San Francisco have advanced prices here. There will probably be a good shipping demand for three weeks yet; but after that the California market will be supplied by the new crop. Shingles are scarce and wanted. There is considerable inquiry for the sawed shingles recently introduced in this market.

SEALED TENDERS

FOR

RAILROAD TIES

Will be received until 12 M., May 15, 1882, for furnishing two hundred and thirty-two thousand (232,000) cross-ties along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, between Emory and Burrard Inlet, viz:

Twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof shall be delivered at Port Moody station, or at a point on the line of said railway between Port Moody and Pitt River.

Other twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof shall be delivered at Pitt River, or between Pitt River and Kanaka Creek.

Other twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof at Kanaka Creek, or between Kanaka Creek and Stave River.

Other twenty-five thousand (25,000) thereof at Stave River, or between Stave River and Hatzic River.

Other forty thousand (40,000) thereof at Hatzic River, or between Hatzic River and Harrison River.

Other twenty-seven thousand (27,000) thereof at Harrison River, or between Harrison River and the lower end of Maria Slough.

Other twenty thousand (20,000) thereof at the lower end of Maria Slough, or between said lower end of Maria Slough and "Tunnel C" of said railway, which tunnel is about 15 miles below Emory's Bar.

Other ten thousand (10,000) thereof at said Tunnel "C" or between said Tunnel "C" and Tunnel "D," which latter tunnel is about 11 miles below Emory's Bar.

Other fifteen thousand (15,000) thereof at Tunnel "D" or around, or between said Tunnel "D" and Tunnel "F" on said railway.

Other twenty thousand (20,000) thereof at the said Tunnel "F," or between said Tunnel "F" and Emory's Bar, or at Emory's Bar.

All such sleepers or crossties shall be delivered alongside the railway and within fifty feet of the center line of the track, and shall be piled up so as not to interfere with the work of construction.

The bottom of the pile shall be as nearly as practicable on a level with the grade of the railway track; and the said pile shall be made so as to permit of ready inspection and counting; and wherever such piles shall be made near water lines, bodies of water or rivers the same shall be placed in such location that the bottom of the pile shall in all events be above the line of high water.

It will be necessary to deliver at least fifteen thousand (15,000) acceptable ties per month from date of entering into contract until completion of same.

Ties must be smoothly hewed or sawed, free from [illegible], and chopped or sawed square at both ends, eight feet long, flatted on two opposite sides to a uniform thickness of six inches; the flatted surface being not less than six inches on either side at the small end, and when sawed they shall be eight inches in width and six inches in depth.

All ties must be of sound timber, full size, and acceptable by the chief engineer of said railway, or they will not be paid for.

Ten per cent. will be reserved upon payment of accepted ties until completion of contract, and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) approved security required before signing contract. The security or securities to be given must be described in the tender. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, Yale, B. C., and endorsed "Tenders for Ties on Contract No. 62."

A. ONDERDONK, Contractor.
